Current Residents

Alison Crew, MS, ATC

Alison is a board certified and licensed athletic trainer in the state of Michigan. Alison has a passion for patient-centered care and is eager to continue to expand her knowledge in the setting of an orthopedic clinic.

Alison earned her bachelor's degree in athletic training at Truman State University in Missouri and went on to obtain her master's degree in movement science at the University of Michigan. There she was a part of the neurotrauma research laboratory under the direction of Dr. Steven Broglio and defended her thesis looking at 'The relationship between socio-economic status and concussion symptoms'.

Alison enjoys cooking, baking, and spending time with her husband and cat.

Brittany Kruse, MS, ATC, OTC

Brittany is a board certified and licensed athletic trainer in the state of Michigan. She is excited to enhance the experience of the patient in the clinical setting and assist orthopedic surgeons with clinic efficiency.

Brittany earned her bachelor's degree in athletic training and kinesiology with a specialization in health promotions at Michigan State University. She then went on to complete her master's degree in athletic leadership at Clemson University where she served as a graduate assistant for women's tennis, football, and Clemson spirit squads. Previously, Brittany worked as an athletic trainer at Cornerstone Orthopedics and Sports Medicine for Dr. Castro.
